In any event, Customer may request FEDMINE to expunge such information from its database forever, and FEDMINE agrees that it shall not transmit any kind of data received from a Customer to any third party in a non-routine manner.

FEDMINE is not liable for data the Customer feels should be different for any reason. FEDMINE may at its discretion decide to augment any missing data from new government and non-government sources of information as necessary to counter the non-availability of missing corporate data, however the availability and subsequent reliability of that data cannot be guaranteed at this or any other time.

A Customer's most current corporate data may at times be different from similar data stored in FEDMINE. Customers are allowed to edit Registration Data as deemed appropriate, however, for security reasons certain

Please call FEDMINE if you as the Customer would like to suggest making a change to your corporate data elements that appear restricted for editing. FEDMINE does not guarantee that all changes will be accommodated, but we will work with you to resolve outdated data related to your company in our database. FEDMINE works hard to keep registration data as accurate and complete as possible, however, sometimes it is possible some entire fields may not be present at all (empty values in all fields).
